THE PROBLEM

You believe it. But you are not saying it.

You have read the scriptures. You have highlighted the promises. You have written them in your journal and cried over them in your bedroom. You believe God. That is not the question.

The question is: when was the last time you opened your mouth and enforced what God already said?

Not quoted it. Not thought it. Not posted it. Spoke it out loud, with authority, over your life, your household, your circumstances — the way a child of the Most High God is supposed to.

"Death and life are in the power of the tongue. And those who love it will eat its fruit."

Proverbs 18:21

The enemy is not threatened by what you know. He studied the word too. He is threatened by what comes out of your mouth in agreement with heaven. That is what pulls down strongholds. That is what shifts atmospheres. That is what the Bible calls warfare.

Most mornings, you wake up and start your day on default. Breakfast. Notifications. The weight of what you are still waiting for. And somewhere in the noise, the declarations that should have gone out first thing — the decrees that would have set the spiritual atmosphere for everything that followed — stayed inside you, unspoken.

That gap — between what you believe and what you say — is where the enemy builds his case against your life.

The promises of God do not enforce themselves.

They are enforced by the believer's mouth.

If you have the word but will not open your mouth,

you are armed but not fighting.

DECLARE CHANGES THAT . STARTING TODAY .

I M A G I N E

The version of your life where your mouth is open every morning.

01 You walk into every day already armoured

Not hoping for a good day. Not reacting to what the morning brings. You woke up, you opened your mouth, and you set the atmosphere before you did anything else. The favour is released. The gates are commanded open. The assignment of darkness over your day has been named and cancelled. You step out carrying something the enemy was not expecting.

02 Your family is under a living, spoken covering

Not just in your heart. In the atmosphere of your home. There is a parent, a spouse, a believer in that house who rises and speaks the Word over every person under that roof. Your children go to school covered. Your marriage goes into the day prayed over. The principality assigned to your household finds a wall it did not build and cannot penetrate. Because someone in that house opened their mouth.

03 The thing that has been stuck finally moves

You have been believing for it. You have been patient. But patience without enforcement is just waiting. When you begin to decree what God said — not beg, not petition, not remind God as though He forgot — but enforce the covenant as someone with legal standing in the kingdom — things that have been stagnant for months begin to move. Not because your words are magic. Because the Word of God does not return void.

04 Your children grow up hearing declaration as a language

Not just church language. The language of the house. They grow up knowing that when things get difficult, we speak. When sickness comes, we decree healing. When lack comes, we stand on provision. When the enemy comes, we open our mouths and remind him who owns the territory. That is not a spiritual ideal. That is a generational inheritance you are building right now, one declaration at a time.

05 You stop waking up afraid of your own prayers

Some people do not declare because they are afraid to declare something that does not happen. They have been hurt by hope before. They have believed and waited and it felt like nothing moved. Declare was built for that person too. The declarations in this app are not positive confessions over wishful thinking. They are the enforced agreements of a believer standing on a covenant that God Himself wrote. You are not confessing what you want.

You are enforcing what He already said.

INSIDE DECLARE — REAL DECLARATIONS FROM THE APP

COMMANDING YOUR DAY

01

Father, in the name of Jesus, I decree and declare that the favour of the Lord surrounds me as a shield today. Psalm 5:12 — You bless the righteous, O Lord, and surround them with favour as with a shield. I receive that shield. Doors open for me. Opportunities come to me. I do not chase what God has already sent toward me, in the name of Jesus.

SPIRITUAL WARFARE

03

In the name of Jesus, I stand at the top of my destiny and I decree — no power formed against what God wrote concerning my life shall prosper. Isaiah 54:17. I demand the enemy to leave. I enforce eviction. Every stronghold, every imagination that exalts itself against the knowledge of God — it is pulled down now, in the name of Jesus.

WHAT DECLARE IS

3,500+ declarations.
Every area of life.

Open the app. Speak the word.

Declare is a warfare declaration app built for people who believe the word and are ready to start enforcing it. Not devotionals. Not generic prayers asking God to do what He already said He has done.

Declarations. Decrees. Warfare language rooted in scripture that activates your faith, shifts your atmosphere, and enforces the covenant.

Every declaration was written from the word. Every category covers something real — the things you are actually facing, the things your family is walking through, the areas where you need the word spoken over your life with authority, not just read quietly.

No download. No setup. Works on any device. Open it and begin, because the word should never be hard to access.

TESTIMONIES

The word is working.

“I started the pregnancy declarations in my second trimester and something shifted. I went from fear every morning to peace I cannot explain. I spoke those words every day and my baby arrived healthy. All glory to God.

Adaeze M.

Mother — Pregnancy declarations

“I open Declare every morning before I open anything else. The Commanding Your Day category has changed how I walk into my business, how I handle my clients, how I carry myself. My whole atmosphere changed.

Emmanuel T.

Entrepreneur — Daily declarations

“I had been believing God for a godly partner for years. I started speaking the courtship declarations and within months everything shifted. I am now engaged. Declare is not a coincidence.

Chidinma O.

Now engaged — Courtship declarations

*The enemy has been operating in silence because your mouth has been closed.

*He cannot build in a house where the Word is spoken over it every morning.

*He cannot sustain a stronghold where a believer rises daily and names it, renounces it, and commands it down.

Declare gives you the words. You give it your voice.

YOU ARE NOT FIGHTING ALONE

Every warrior needs a company.

*David had his mighty men. Paul had his churches.
You have Declare Community.*

The declarations you are speaking are powerful. But there is something that happens when you are no longer speaking alone.

When a mother in Lagos is declaring the same scripture over her womb that a mother in London is declaring over hers — and both of them know it — something shifts. The isolation of the wait lifts. The shame of the battle you have not told anyone about finds a safe room. The faith that was getting thin from fighting alone gets fed by someone else's testimony.

Not a social media feed. Not a comment section.

A company of believers who speak the same language — the language of the Word, enforced.

01

Your testimony is someone else's ammunition.

When God moves in your situation, you do not keep it quiet. You bring it back to the room. Because the Bible says the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy — what He did for you becomes the declaration of what He will do for someone else. Your breakthrough does not just belong to you. It belongs to whoever needs to hear it.

02

Someone here is standing on the same scripture you almost gave up on.

You are not the only one who has been believing for two years. You are not the only one whose marriage feels like warfare. You are not the only one still waiting on the financial breakthrough, still commanding the healing, still refusing to let go of what God said. There are people in this room who know exactly where you are standing — and they are still standing too. That matters more than you think.

Iron sharpens iron. Faith sharpens faith.

When you hear someone else declare with authority — someone who is in the middle of a harder fight than yours and still opening their mouth — something rises in you. You remember who you are. You pick up your weapon. You speak again. That is what being in a room of people who actually believe does. It does not just encourage you. It activates you.

When you get Declare, you are not just getting an app. You are getting a company. People who have been where you are, who are going where you are going, and who will not let you go quiet when the battle gets loud.
